FINED $3,200.

Dorothea Philo Higgins, a tall and handsome Virginia girl of 24, who lives at Yonkers Park, N. Y., was fined $3,200 yesterday for contempt of court by United States Circuit Court Judge Hough.

Judge Hough allowed Miss Higgins ten days in which to pay the fine, and in his order provided that in case she fails to pay a warrant for her arrest will be issued to United States Marshal William Henkel, and she will be imprisoned until ordered released.

Miss Higgins, who has been living with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Warwick Bradner, is the daughter of Arthur Higgins, a civil engineer who died in 1891 at Norfolk, Va. She has a brother, Warwick E. Higgins, aged 22, and a younger sister, Constance Higgins, aged 17 years.

Frederick W. Evers, a furniture dealer, filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against Mrs. Bradner on December 16 and Miss Higgins' contempt consisted in disobeying an order of Judge Hough issued to prevent the alleged fraudulent disposition of two insurance policies. Two months later Mrs. Bradner was adjudged a bankrupt and William H. Freeman was appointed trustee of her property.

The unsecured claims against Mrs. Bradner totaled $21,406. A large amount of these were for dry goods, household furnishings, clothing, works of art, and article of luxury. Charles H. Bradner, Mrs. Bradner's second husband, had failed in the real estate business. Mrs. Bradner made affidavit that she had put $20,000 into the business.

The Bradners and Higginses had come from the south a couple of years ago. They gave out that they owned property in Virginia, and that the Higgins children had independent incomes of their own. It is alleged they ran up large bills in several of the leading stores in New York without difficulty.

In default of payment Miss Higgins may be, according to law, incarcerated for 3,200 days, or about nine years. It is believed, however, that she will pay.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.
Sitting upright in her carriage, shot through the heart, the body of Mrs. Fanny Hewey, aged 45 years, was found late yesterday on Branch road near by Perkinsville, Va., by a party of automobilists. The horse was also dead, shot through the heart. A little farther on the body of G. Frank Hewey, aged 48 years, husband of the woman, was found, a bullet wound, in his breast and a rifle by his side.

The tragedy was enacted far from any witnesses, and the police call it a case of murder and suicide, the outcome of family troubles. The woman, whose marriage to Hewey resulted from a matrimonial advertisement placed in a western publication by him, had left him three times and refused again to return.

Hewey then became morose and for several days, it is said, had sat in front of his house with his rifle across his knees. When his wife drove along the road yesterday, it is believed, he halted her by killing the horse, and then when she refused to listen to his pleadings, shot her through the heart, sending a third bullet into his own body.

YOUNG WOMAN ACQUITTED.
Mamie McLoughlin, a girl of eighteen years, who shot and killed her over, Hugh Smith, Jr., a wealthy saloon keeper of New Orleans, as he walked the streets with her rival, was acquitted by a jury in that city yesterday on a plea of the "unwritten law."
The jury was out but twenty five minutes. The announcement of the verdict was received with cheers by the members of the Era Club, an organization of women, and the other spectators who filled the court. During the progress of the trial crowds outside of the Criminal Court building fought with the deputies and police for admittance.
Miss McLoughlin was on the stand just before both defense and prosecution rested without argument.
"He betrayed me," she sobbed. "He had promised to marry me, but he did not keep his word. I went to the house of the Blake girl. I saw her come out. I thought that she was going to meet Smith. I followed her. I followed them and when I got near I was so crazed with grief that I did not know what I was doing. Life was nothing to me any longer. So I killed him."
Alice Blake, the girl who was with Smith, went on the stand, and with flashing eyes swore that she had been engaged to marry him before "that creature shot him."
"The McLoughlin girl told me that I would have to give up Smith or she would kill us both," she sobbed before the court room. Ever since the killing the women of the Era Club and others throughout the state landed together for her protection. They raised a fund to hire lawyers for her, and in every way assisted the girl.

DECLARED FOR OPEN SHOP.

Leading contractors of Washington, the men who make up the membership of the Master Builders' Association and the Builders' League, in joint session last night, declared war against dictation on the part of labor unionists. The body also declared for the "open shop."

The resolutions adopted were especially aimed at the bricklayers' union, members of which have consistently refused to work for contractors who employed non-union men, it is said. The claim is made that bricklayers have not only refused to work alongside of non-union men, whether of their own trade or plasterers, carpenters, etc., but have strongly objected to the contractor against his employing non-union men on other jobs.

National banks will be required to maintain only a 5 per cent. redemption fund against emergency issues of currency which may be made under the Aldrich-Vreeland act, according to a ruling which the Treasury Department is about to promulgate. This ruling will reverse a former one made on June 30, 1908, which fixed the amount at 10 per cent.

FIFTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for fifty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.
